

JUST A LITTLE WARMER.

FINE WINTER WEATHER YESTERDAY.

ICE IN THE BAY STILL BOTHERING SAILORS.

AND IMPEDING VESSELS—MORE SNOW.

LATE LAST EVENING.

A second day of bright sunshine and of bracing winter weather made New York happy yesterday. It was not so cold as the day before, but it was still cold enough so that sleighing and skating were not popular. There was little ice in the Upper Bay, and the ice collected in the rivers and forming a fringe around the Battery was such as seeks only to resolve itself into water as speedily as possible. The ferries, most of them, ran on their schedule time. There was a little delay on the South Brooklyn ferry, because the westerly wind packed the ice in on the Long Island shore, and made it difficult to get in and out of the slips at South Brooklyn. There was plenty of ice in the East River, but it did not obstruct the regular running of the ferries. Much of what looked like ice in the river was simply floating snow, east upon the waters from the cars of the Street Cleaning Department.

In the Lower Bay there was still considerable ice rushing seaward. A three-masted vessel, apparently a coal barge, was reported from Sandy Hook in the morning as having gone ashore on the Ronger Shoals. She had been forced there by the ice. A scow belonging to the Cummings Dredging Company, which has been anchored for some time between Bellows and Ellis Islands, was sunk by the ice Friday night. The steamship Britannia, from this port for Baltimore, was caught in the ice in the swash channel in the forenoon and held there for some time. She finally broke her way out and went to sea.

Eastward of City Island the sound was reported to be filled with floating ice. The ice was soft, however, and steamers had little difficulty in forcing their way through it. There was a clear line of open water stretching down the Sound between the expanses of ice. At City Island many vessels bound both to the east and to the west were waiting in vain for tugs to come and get them. For the tugs which have survived the ice blockade have been a harvest of riches, and there will be plenty of work for them for several days.

The Sound steamer arrived from the eastward yesterday nearly on time. The Fall River steamer Pilgrim reported that the ice was bad in Narragansett and Mount Hope bays, and her captain thought that unless things became better the boats would have to stop at Newport.

Out in Godwin's Channel the ice was so thick that in its rush seaward before the wind, it carried away all the electric light buoys there, leaving the channel unmarked. A light-house steamer went out from the station at Tompkinsville to replace the buoys. The thermometer of the Weather Bureau began the day by registering a temperature of 8 degrees above zero. The mercury steadily rose and at 2:30 it was up to 15 degrees, the highest point reached in the course of the day.

The evening was not particularly cold, but at 8:30 o'clock a light, fine snowfall began. It came from the westward, and continued during the day.

The storm which brought it started yesterday morning in Arkansas, and was central last night over West Virginia and moving eastward. There is no prospect of there being another ice blockade for some time, and when there is it will be a mild and modified one.

ANOTHER MAIL FROM COMMISSIONER BRENNAN.

Commissioner Brennan emitted another mail of word from the Street Cleaning Department yesterday. He said that so far as snows at the dumps were concerned the department was in a most deplorable condition, even worse than on the previous day. He gave out a list of dumps without snow, and said that he was a horrible state for a dump to be in. The commissioner was unable to discern any rift in the clouds which darkened his official horizon. Mayor Gilroy received a letter yesterday from General G. S. Greene, Jr., chief engineer of the Dock Department, in response to a request that assistance be given to his street-cleaning engineer says that 25,000 cart loads of refuse might be dumped behind a cinderbank at the bulkhead between West Ninety-seventh and Ninety-eighth streets, which would afford Mr. Brennan some relief, but it should be done under direction of officers of the Dock Department. Mr. Green suggests that during the prevalence of the ice material should be deposited in large heaps and piles near the various dumps, and afterward removed in the usual way. The Mayor transmitted the letter to Commissioner Brennan, who said that he was already dumping material at West Ninety-ninth. The Commissioner did not express a high opinion of some of the engineer's suggestions.

FOOD AND CLOTHING FOR THE POOR.

Washington, Jan. 14.—There is much suffering in Washington on account of the cold weather. Six or eight hundred packages, containing food and clothing, were brought to the Treasury Department this morning by the clerks, and turned over to the police for distribution. Several hundred dollars were also contributed for the poor. The other executive departments will take similar action.

BATTILING WITH THE WESTERN BLIZZARD.

Des Moines, Iowa, Jan. 14.—A severe snowstorm, forerunner of a big blizzard, struck Des Moines last evening. The storm has played havoc with the passenger traffic. The trains on all the roads leading into Des Moines are very badly timed.

Michigan City, Ind., Jan. 14.—A blizzard set in late last night. All roads are impassable and business is almost suspended. The snow has made the railroad blockade complete, and all freight trains have been abandoned. No attempt was made to move the south-bound "Monon" train, while all trains on the Michigan Central and Lake Erie and Washington roads are from four to six hours late.

NAVIGATION OF THE OHIO STOPPED.

Cincinnati, Jan. 14.—While the Ohio River freezes from Louisville to Louisville, with all its tributaries locked in a still closer by embrace, and with a fall of snow almost unprecedented at this time of the year, the outlook for a resumption of river traffic is dark indeed. With these conditions the river may remain closed a month or more, and the break-up must be accompanied with great damage. Destitution in the city is increased by loss of work and by the high price of coal, but help is coming promptly both from the city and from private persons.

ICE IN NEWPORT HARBOR.

Newport, R. I., Jan. 14.—The ice in the harbor is steadily growing stronger, and the river boats have remained tied up in their docks for the last forty-eight hours. The ferries are still running, but not in regular time, and that to Fort Adams is obliged to go three miles out of the usual course. Advice from the West Passage this morning says that during the night the channel between Dutch Island and the mainland froze over in spite of the fact that several men are churning up the water there in their candeavors to free the dozen or more vessels in Dutch Island harbor. Only the main channel to the bay is now open, and that to no great distance except for large and powerful steamers.

LIVE STOCK IN TRANSIT FROZEN.

Chicago, Jan. 14 (Special).—Railroad men are unanimous in saying that not for years has it been so difficult to operate roads as during the present blizzard spell. No section is exempt from the prevailing troubles. Trains on every railroad entering Chicago are from one to twenty-four hours late. In the latter case the word "abandoned" is marked against the train, and, indeed, is the road which does not have daily occasion to use the words. Wrecks and breakdowns of all sorts are reported hourly. A trainload of hogs was frozen to death on an Eastern road yesterday, and last night ten cars of cattle met a similar fate on a Western road. From half a dozen to a carload of sheep and horses have been frozen on nearly every road entering Chicago. Delays on the line have started an incident blockade in eastbound traffic. Railroad officials prefer to keep the loaded cars in the Chicago yards rather than trust them on

AN OCEAN FIER GOING.

Cape May, Jan. 14.—The pier here is clogged with ice, reaching far out to sea. The ocean pier is closed, and it is feared that it will be wrecked.

TO PROBE A BUIRERY SCANDAL.

A COMMITTEE OF CITIZENS OF ST. PAUL WILL TAKE THE MATTER BEFORE THE GRAND JURY.

St. Paul, Jan. 14 (Special).—The Grand Jury will be asked to investigate the charges of attempted bribery of the Republican members of the Legislature, said State Senator Twyman today. "But it will ask Senator Davis or his political friends to do with the matter. A committee of St. Paul citizens, both Democrats and Republicans, have been organized to investigate the matter fully, and they will carry the matter before the Grand Jury. It is not a political move in any sense of the word, but a movement on the part of good citizens, who want to see such corrupt practices wiped out of Minnesota politics once for all, and those who are at the bottom of these practices punished as they deserve." Senator Twyman had proposed a resolution to introduce in the Senate, asking the appointment of a committee to investigate these charges, but was dissuaded from presenting it by his friends, who argued that an investigation undertaken by persons not actively engaged in politics would probably be more effective. Some of the Republicans in the House were prepared to introduce a similar resolution in that body today, but they also held off to give the outside committee time to do its work.

The citizens seem to have used poor judgment in the selection of their intended victims, for they approached some of the strongest Litchfield men in the House. One of the latter, A. T. Koerner, of Litchfield, was approached on the Friday before the speakership contest, and $2,000 was offered him to stay away from the caucus. A like sum was offered R. C. Dunn if he would visit Chicago or some other place outside the State during the time the vote on the speakership was being taken. The Democrats and Anti-Davis men are inclined to be defiant. They say that if the matter goes before the Grand Jury they will produce evidence showing that men had offered $5,000 to $8,000 to attend the Republican caucus at which Davis was nominated. They do not attempt to deny the charges, but try to bluff the matter off.

Reports were sent from St. Paul yesterday to the effect that bribery was being resorted to in order to defeat Senator Davis's chances for reelection, but Charles A. Pillsbury, of St. Paul, the four mill owner, and one of the leading Republicans of Minnesota, says that he is of the opinion that Senator Davis will be the choice of the Legislature.

The first annual meeting of the University Athletic Club was held last night, and the members could not feel that their career had thus far been entirely successful. There are 425 members, 332 of them residents, and applications come in at the rate of one a day. The club has spent only the money received for dues, the initiation fees having been set aside for a nucleus for a building fund.
